WE RE-ORGANIZE

In Borough, Township. On New Year's Day noon, a new mayor took office in Township Hall, a re-elected mayor repeated the oath in Borough Hall and new and old Councilmen and Committeemen moved into the chairs of office which they would fill during the coming twelve months.

The new Borough Council will consist of one new face—Joseph R. Strayer, Democrat; and five familiar Republican faces—Elwood W. Godfrey, William H. Walker, Alfred E. Sorenson, Joseph R. Wood and Alan W. Carrick.

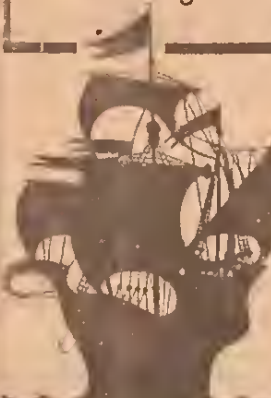

In the Township, there will be two new faces—Russell Mount and Walter B. Foster Jr.—and three familiar faces—William L. Wilson, who will be the new mayor, John O. Green and Carl C. Schafer, Jr., all Republican.

In his first address as mayor, Mr. Wilson expressed the "gratitude and esteem" that all citizens of Princeton Township hold for R. Kenneth Fairman, retiring mayor.

"It has been both a privilege and an inspiration to work alongside him," said Mr. Wilson, "and I must add in com-

NEW MEN ON TOWNSHIP TEAM: William L. Wilson (center) is the new Mayor of Princeton Township, moving into office after having served two years on Township Committee. plete sincerity and true humility that I don't quite know how we are going to get along without him, and we shall continue to seek his counsel and help."

Mr. Wilson also cited "our great dissenter, Maurice F. Healy, Jr.," retiring after three years on Committee. "He repeatedly demonstrated the questioning, challenging spirit that is the only proper mental attitude for a member of any legislative body."

What's Ahead? What will be the issues that face these two governing bodies during 1964?

Library. Both mayors, in their New Year's Day addresses, gave first priority to the construction of a new public library for Princeton.

"I herewith recommend to Council that the construction of the new Library be given priority for capital funds," said Mayor Henry Patterson.

"Construction of the new Library must be financed and the program moved forward to assure the beginning of construction in early 1965," declared Mayor William L. Wilson.

Consolidation. "The studies of the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations and the parallel study by the Township and Borough Boards of Education should be completed by the year's end and put before the public for definitive action in 1965," Mayor Wilson said.

"The Borough will continue to press for continuation and completion of the studies being carried out by the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations," commented Mayor Patterson. "In this regard, it should be noted again that the Joint Committee is not seeking consolidation as the end product of its work, but solutions to mutual problems."

Mayor Patterson said he hoped that University and Borough would work together to solve mutual problems, and he cited as one of these the question of a 206-A by-pass, "so tantalizingly close to reality, but still not real."

The complete text of Mayor Patterson's New Year's Day address appears on page 14.

Mayor Wilson followed his comments on the public library and the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations by listing seven other areas where he hoped to see progress in 1964.

Recreation. "A comprehensive recreational program and the development of at least some phases of the Community Park program should be initiated and implemented."

Open Space. "New areas of Open Space should be acquired."

Cooperation. Mayor Wilson said he would continue "the excellent relationships we enjoy with the Mayor, Council and officials of Princeton Borough

As a corollary, Mayor Wilson said that Township and Borough "must find the right answers to site and planning problems surrounding the Borough Elementary School project, so that this vital educational facility can be brought into being on schedule."

Sewer Agreement. The new sewer operating agreement is almost ready, and Mayor Wilson stated in his message that "it must be completed" so that urgently-needed improvements and enlargements can be started.

Sewer Extensions. In addition to extending the Township system and completing the Hillside plan, Mayor Wilson hopes to work out regional sewer considerations with Rocky Hill and Montgomery Township.

MINORITY PARTY: Prof. Joseph R. Strayer was seated on Borough Council this week as the lone Democrat to serve in 1964.

Zoning. Within 1964, the Planning Board hopes to complete land Committee to enact a general revision of the zoning ordinance, bringing up to date "this vital expression of public policy."

Taxes. In conclusion, Mayor Wilson, who is a financial expert in private life, said he hopes that Township taxes can be kept in line.

"Every increase in the cost of housing in this community further impairs the democracy of local housing opportunities," Mayor Wilson stated. "Only by doing our best to keep the cost down can we offer the privilege of living anywhere in Princeton Township to the greatest possible number of people."

Mayor Wilson also referred to the federal government's policy of striving for prosperity by reducing the income tax. "If local governments soak up this new purchasing power through increased taxes as fast as the federal government returns the money to you and me, the whole program will be defeated. I do not want Princeton Township to be guilty of this distortion of the national purpose."

FAIRMAN TO SERVE

On Joint Committee, R. Kenneth Fairman, who retired January 1 as mayor of Princeton Township, will continue to represent Township Committee on the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations.

An enabling resolution, allowing the mayor to appoint a representative to the municipal study ("consolidation") group if he so chooses, was passed Monday night at the final meeting of the out-going Township Committee.

After passage of the resolution, William Wilson announced that he would appoint Mr. Fairman as his representative on the Joint Committee, thereby providing continuity during the coming critical year. The group is scheduled to make its final recommendations sometime in 1964.

"Besides," added Mr. Wilson—who was not yet "Mayor Wilson" on Monday night—"the more brains and leadership we can get in municipal affairs, the better."

As a legacy to the new committee, the old one left a surplus of $47,034.91, — the total of a long list of items ranging from a 41-cent residue in the incinerator fund, to more than $5,000 left over in the legal fund, budgeted because of an anticipated court case which never materialized. In between were things such as a saving of $1.20 a ton on blacktop and 70 cents a ton on sand. Mr. Wilson commended John Prior, assistant Township clerk, for making these economies.

"Take $200 here and 41 cents there, and soon you've saved $47,000," Mr. Wilson said.

Mayor Fairman and outgoing Committeeman Maurice F. Healy Jr. were presented with their Township Committee name-plates backed with a plaque of silver bearing a suitable inscription.

TOPICS Of the Town

LIBRARY HAS PROGRAM For New Structure. A building program based on an estimated Princeton population of 40,000 has been presented to Borough Council and Township Committee by the Trustees of the Princeton Public Library. The program has been designed to span the next two fiscal years for both municipalities.

The Trustees will now prepare, at the request of Council and Committee, a time-table for building the new library on the corner of Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets.

Mrs. E. Baldwin Smith, president of the Board of Trustees, said that the trustees have unanimously recommended a building containing about 30,400 square feet.

"We started thinking in terms of a population of 35,000 and a building of 22-24,000 square feet," Mrs. Smith said. "However, the more we probed our needs and the more we learned about other new library buildings in New Jersey, the more apparent it became that such space would not be adequate, and that it would be shortsighted and even irresponsible, for the Trustees to plan for the needs of fewer than 40,000 people."

The population estimate of 40,000 is the "saturation figure" given in the Township's master Plan. Princeton is expected to reach that point by 1980.

The original plans for the library were prepared by the professional library staff, and amended and approved by the Trustees. They were then submitted to Dr. Emerson Greenaway, director of the Free Public Library of Philadelphia and consultant to the Trustees. It was Dr. Greenaway who recommended the 30,400-square-foot building.

"We have not made this decision lightly," Mrs. Smith commented. "We must not build a library which will be inadequate for Princeton's needs in a very few years. The library trustees are planning for the future."

Plans call for ground-breaking early in 1965 and completion in 1966. The total cost of building and equipping the new building will be under a million dollars, Mrs. Smith said. The present estimate for construction alone is $760,000. Thaddeus Longstreth, AIA, of Princeton, will be the architect of the new structure. It is expected that he will devote 1964 to completing plans and working drawings.

5 FORCED TO FLEE HOME
Fire Discovered at 4 a.m. Flames from a downstairs fire, discovered Sunday about 4 a.m., forced Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Petke and their three sons to flee their Colonial-style home at 127 Westerly Road.

The fire was discovered by the Petke's 10-year-old son who was sleeping directly above the living room where the fire was contained. Two older sons, both attending college and home during the holidays, fled the house, one by leaping from a rear porch roof. The only casualty was the family poodle who was asphyxiated.

Fire Chief Samuel Davison reported that the plaster walls ringing the living room prevented the fire from spreading. The large living room, however, was gutted. There was also some smoke and heat damage throughout the house, according to Chief Davison, but little water damage.

The fire is believed to have originated from a couch but its exact cause has not been determined. At the time of the fire, the temperature outside was reported to have been between 5 and 10 degrees above zero.

Dormitory Room Ablaze. Friday at 11:45 p.m., a general alarm was sounded, reporting a fire in a downstairs bedroom at the Princeton Inn Dormitory, Alexander Street. The fire was confined to an unoccupied bedroom. Chief Davison reports that a bed and a chair were destroyed. The fire was discovered by employees of the Inn occupying other rooms in the dormitory.

FUND NEARS GOAL

Only $12,000 Needed. A total of $342,000 has been raised toward the goal of $354,633 set this year by the Princeton area United Fund-Red Cross campaign.

Only $12,000 more is needed to bring the campaign to a successful close for the fourth consecutive year. Anyone who has not made a contribution yet can do so by mailing it to the Fund office at 4 Green Street or may call the campaign office (WA 4-5882) which will send a volunteer to call for it.

"INSTANT" COUNCIL

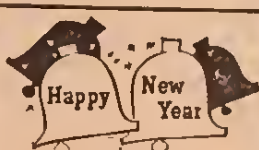

Quick Wind-Up Session Held. It took Borough Council just 11 minutes on Friday night to complete unfinished business for 1963. There were only two items of consequence to come before Council, and both of them were approved.

A request for variances sought by Murray S. Bailey in connection with the conversion of a house at 36 Bank Street into two apartment units was approved following receipt of a letter from Borough Health Officer David T. Blake attesting to the fact that the structure remodeled conformed to housing code requirements.

Similarly, council passed on second reading an ordinance to vacate a proposed one-block extension of Patton Avenue. The extension, no longer considered necessary or practical, had been on the books for some period of time.

At exactly 8-11, Council President Ellwood W. Godfrey, acting as chairman of the meeting in place of Mayor Henry S. Patterson, who was out of town, wished his fellow council members a "Happy New Year," and the meeting was adjourned.

Thorn Lord in the Bahamas and Rep. Frank Thompson finishing his Congressional duties in Washington, no final action has been taken in naming a postmaster for Princeton. When the deadline for choosing a successor to Charles F. Murray passed on Tuesday, it was mandatory under federal law to appoint an interim supervisor. James V. Quick, Superintendent of Mails who has been in postal service here for 36 years, was named in that capacity. As the majority party in Mercer County and in Washington, the Democrats will exercise political patronage in selecting the new postmaster. As reported here last week, the foremost name is that of Edward J. Sweeney, Mercer County Assemblyman, whose home is at 181 Harrison Street.

"IT IS PREPOSTEROUS"
Dr. Black Issues Denial.
"The allegation in the current Bulgarian spy trial that I served as a foreign intelligence agent is a complete fabrication," Dr. Cyril E. Black said this week. "It is so preposterous that it should not be dignified by a detailed rebuttal." Dr. Black, professor of Russian history at Princeton, was named as a contact man from the "American intelligence" by Ivan Asen Georgiev, Bulgarian diplomat who has been on trial in Vienna, charged with being a spy for the United States while he was with the Bulgarian delegation to the United Nations.

Informed of Dr. Black's statement, Georgiev is said to have retorted that the denial is "a hopeless attempt by the U.S. intelligence to cover themselves." Georgiev testified that Dr. Black, using the name of George Anderson, introduced himself when the Bulgarian landed at Idlewild Airport in October, 1956. Georgiev said that he recognized the American as the son of Floyd Black, founder of the American College in Sofia.

Lived in Bulgaria. "This is the second time the Bulgarian Communists have used my name in false confessions," Dr.

Man In Eclipse

The moon gave a shiver:
"Looks cold tonight —
I guess I'll hide
'Til it's warm and bright."

Whether the Man in the Moon found it warmer early Monday morning during his eclipse is anyone's guess, but no one had to guess whether it was cold here on earth. Outlying areas recorded readings less than ten degrees above zero both Monday and Tuesday. The temperature is scheduled to remain well below normal for the next few days. If snow hasn't arrived by Thursday, generally fair weather will continue through the weekend.

Black said in a prepared statement. "In 1949 at a trial of Protestant clergymen, an equally preposterous allegation was made."

"The Bulgarian Communists have found it convenient to use my name because of my long association with Bulgaria. I lived in Bulgaria as a boy from 1925 to 1934 at a time when my family was prominently associated with American educational work in Bulgaria."

"During World War II, I served in Bulgaria for a year as a State Department representative on the Allied Control Commission after the armistice when the country was under Allied occupation."

Dr. Black said he believed that officials wanted to counteract the warm feelings most Bulgarians have for Americans and to warn them against personal contacts, now that relations between the two countries have become more relaxed.

"Fabrications like the ones made in these trials are a familiar Communist technique," Dr. Black pointed out, "but the revival of staged trials is an ominous development in East-West relations."

Observers believe that Georgiev will be sentenced to death for treason. He has confessed to seven years' work as an agent for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

HERE'S "HURDY GURDY": She may not be "The Littlest Clown," but she's one of the most beguiling. McCarter will tumble all clowns onto the stage in a special children's program scheduled for two showings this Saturday. "The Littlest Clown" was a great hit at the Seattle Fair.

News Of The THEATRES

BIG TOP HERE

For Little Circus, Acrobats, clowns, dancers and even animal acts will assemble under what might be called The Little Top when "The Littlest Circus" comes to McCarter for two performances Saturday. Audiences will gather at 11 a.m. and 3:30.

"The Littlest Circus" is a series of imaginative vignettes of circus life, with a one-man band, a seal and his trainer, a giant who gets smaller and smaller, a bareback rider, jugglers and a mysterious centaurian referred to as a "people-horse."

Aided by headresses, wigs, false noses and talent, seven performers portray more than 40 different animals and people. Adults in the audience will have just as much fun as the children.

"WORLD'S GREATEST . . ."

Greco Coning. Although he has been acclaimed by critics as "the world's greatest male Spanish dancer," Jose Greco was actually born in Italy. At the age of 7, however, he was taken to Seville, Spain, where he began to absorb the techniques that have since brought him fame.

Greco will bring his troupe of 25 to McCarter Theatre Friday at 8:30 p.m. Lola de Ronda, prima ballerina of the Greco troupe since 1952, will star, along with Senor Greco.

The troupe's appearance in McCarter will serve to launch its 12th transcontinental tour.

TO GIVE "CINDERELLA"
At McCarter, Magic and music will be included in the Traveling Playhouse production of "Cinderella" scheduled for 3:30 on Tuesday at McCarter.

The 90-minute musical opens the 32nd season of the children's Entertainment Series, sponsored by PTA of the Princeton Borough Elementary Schools. Others planned are "Absolutely Time" on February 4, "Red Riding Hood," March 3, and "Young Tom Edison," April 14.

Season tickets at $5.50, $3.50 and $1.85 are available until the first performance. Single tickets are $1.50, $1 and 60c. Mrs. Albert A. Austen, is ticket chairman - WA 4-5772 between 1 and 3 weekdays.

BUY THROUGH "PAIR"

For "White America." Tickets are still available in the block of seats reserved by the Princeton Association for Human Rights for the one-night stand of "In White America." The dramatic documentary on the American Negro will be given in McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, January 15, at 8:30.

A telephone call to the PA-HR office - WA 4-2966 - will serve to hold any number of tickets. Proceeds from PA-HR's sale will be used for a project concerned with human rights.

"Because we feel the play is so important," says the Rev. A.D. Tyson, president of PA-HR, "we urge the purchase of the less expensive tickets now on sale at the McCarter box-office, if the slightly higher PAIR price is not possible at this time."

and Merriment Festival" will play a supporting role in the "January Jubilee" already under way at McCarter Theatre. The mirth and merriment will derive from a number of short subjects and cartoons to be shown at McCarter next Friday, January 10, at 8 p.m.

The program will include the Academy Award-winner "Day of the Painter" and "Muscle Beach," and two of Ernest Pintoff's animated cartoon satires, "The Interview" and "The Violinist." There will also be three Chaplins: "One A.M.," "The Cure" and "The Count."

The regular Classic Film Series on the Italian Cinema will resume Tuesday, January 14, at 8 p.m. with the first Princeton showing of Luciano Visconti's "Rocco and his Brothers" with Alain Delon.

MAYERICK IN THE MOVIES: James Garner, known to TV fans for his role in Westerns, appears with Doris Day in "Move Over, Darling." The picture is currently on view at the Playhouse and the Prince.

"Awful Truth" or "My Favorite Wife" updated, but which one doesn't really make much difference because this one qualifies equally well as just awful or least favorite.

The flick has one quality common to all Doris Day movies: sexual abstinence under the most provocative of circumstances. It's getting to be such an obvious trade mark of her films that she could by now probably play the title role in "Fanny Hill" as chastely as if she were leading firefly in a Miss Fine's School spring pageant.

"Move Over" employs not only Doris. James Garner, Polly Bergen, Thelma Ritter and Rifleman Chuck Connors are also on the manifest. Maybe their next one will be better — it could hardly be worse.

GARDEN

Take Her, She's Mine (through Tuesday) employs a script carved out of the Broadway legit hit. Nunnally Johnson, a talented guy, did the carving. James Stewart is the star. But somehow the result is only luke-warm at best.

"Take Her" is dedicated to the thesis advanced by Maurice Chevalier in "Gigi." Thank heavens for little girls, for little girls get bigger every day. It's a thesis which is not acceptable to Stewart, however, the proud parent of teen-age twerp Sandra Dee — he wants to keep Sandra forever a little girl.

Understandably, parental rejection by Miss Dee follows. Along the way are some half-hearted, heavy-handed swings at such over-ridiculed phenomena as modern art, sit-ins.

BOATS IN

Laden with Linen. When the Moygashel arrives from Ireland, you know the south-and-cruise season has begun. The English Shop meets the boat with a collection of solids and prints to keep you cool if you go where it's warm.

Downstairs, where the ladies gather, The English Shop has a natural linen with short sleeves and a red or royal print which outlines such things as tulips and daisies and underscores them with a narrow red leather belt. The skirt is A-line.

If you like bare arms, there's a powder blue (or beige) whose brief covering bolero is cut with a deep V front, joined at the base with a double bow of royal and lime. The same two colors pipe all the edges. On the beige, the piping is orange and beige.

A shift, without sleeves, has a flutter of solid, shaggy butterfly, royal and turquoise or red and yellow against an oyster white linen. Little carnations with green stems grow in profusion on a deep natural linen which fastens three-quarters of the way with minute navy or brown wooden buttons. Carnations are either navy and powder or yellow and brown.

Solid tomato red linen has stitched pleats that break at the knee for a flippant little flare. Dress comes in navy, too, or powder or oyster white. The neckline is rather high and squared off at the corners.

DROP IN ANY TIME: The well-seeded bird feeder is always welcome around this time of the year. John Hart of Rosedale Mills examines one of his redwood feeders and reminds householders that once they begin bird-feeding, they must keep it up throughout the year, because birds come to rely on the seed as perhaps their only source of food. (Staff Photo)

Earnest golfers will pack Louise Suggs' flowered print—cotton, not linen—with its slightly open collar and little red buttons.

Evan Picone makes separates this cruise season, starting with an A-line shift, so fitted that it's really more like a princess (you couldn't possibly wear a belt). There's a straight skirt, too, and a white-piped vest with white buttons. The fabric, reminiscent of raw silk, is either a very dark navy, or a claret red.

For dress, The English Shop suggests a white loopy wool-mohair in two pieces, with banded vertical pockets in the A-skirt, and bell-shaped elbow sleeves on the overblouse. A flat bow marks the middle of the V-neckline.

White again, in a faille with narrow, bell skirt; low, square-cut back and higher square-cut front. But back again to colors in a sleeveless slip of a dress characterized by all-over shirring of its pink, lime and white print.

DADDY, TOO?

Sure, Bring Him Along. Upstairs at The English Shop, where everything is supposedly stag (do girls still buy men's shirts to wear themselves?), we find linen again, sometimes combined with what they refer to delicately as "man-made fibres."

Look at that yellow linen jacket, for example. Ever see anything handsomer? It's a clearer yellow than maize, a softer yellow than lemon, and closer, actually, to lightly lightly salted butter. Linen, with a touch of dacron.

A companion jacket is Haspel's distinguished tomato-charcoal, a not-too-red. Any wardrobe demands both of these, without question. And also a linen-dacron in a dark natural, several tones below the usual oyster white of linen alone.

Madras jackets are proudly dacron-and-Madras, and if you can believe it, are guaranteed NOT to bleed! Most of the ones we saw are in the blue-gray spectrum.

Slacks to wear below all this are as varied as the jackets themselves. Madras slacks, for example, full ankle length. Linen trousers in that heavenly yellow, moss green, natural linen and a tomato red without the charcoal touch. We happen to like the vanilla trouser in dacron and pima cotton; just like whipped cream.

There are Madras walking shorts, including an unusual brilliant lemon yellow with grey stripes and not a hint of check or plaid. A similar striped pattern combines grey and deep moss. Solid shorts are white dacron and pima, olive, a very deep moss and natural. "Linen" ones are usually combined with dacron to fend off the wrinkles.

For swimming, there are Madras trunks and solids (there's yellow again) and for not swimming, Madras sport shirts and solids and stripes.

SALT ON THE TAIL

Birds' Christmas Carol. Nobody in town eats better than the birds. We discovered this on a recent trip to Rosedale Mills on Alexander Street and Faculty Road. Birdseed mix at Rosedale, just to give you a glance at the table d'hôte, contains wheat, millet, sunflower, kafir, peanut hearts. —Continued on Page 8

MUSIC In Princeton

PREMIERE, BY SEGOVIA
Of New Work. When Andres Segovia, classical guitarist, comes to Princeton for a McCarter Theatre recital next Wednesday, he will play the "Suite Compostelana" by F. Mompou. It will be the world premiere of the suite. In addition, Mr. Segovia will play works dedicated to him by Turina and Torroba, two of the leading contemporary composers for classic guitar. His program will also include compositions by Bach, Paganini and Albeniz.

Princeton audiences will recall, from Mr. Segovia's previous appearances in McCarter, that he demands absolute silence before he begins a recital. He has even been known to retire from the stage, wait in the wings for quiet, and then return.

Mr. Segovia is one of the few professional musicians who never received formal lessons on his instrument. As a young student at the Granada Institute of Music, he was unable to find a qualified instructor so he became his own teacher. "To this day," he once remarked, "teacher and pupil have never had a serious quarrel."

Tickets for Mr. Segovia's McCarter appearance are on sale at the McCarter box-office.

QUARTET TO PLAY

On Amati Instruments. Works by Mozart, Brahms and Brunn will be performed when the four members of the LaSalle Quartet come to McCosh 10 on Monday at 8:30. The concert, sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, will be open to the public without charge.

THE FETE IS IN THEIR HANDS: Co-chairmen of next June's Hospital Fete are, at left, Mrs. John J. Fischer and Mrs. John C. Whitwell. Mrs. Fischer is the newly-elected corresponding secretary of the hospital's women's auxiliary. Mrs. Whitwell, whose husband is treasurer of the hospital's board of trustees, is chairman of reception desk volunteers.

Quartet members perform on a matched set of four 17th century Amati instruments, which have been called the finest in existence. The collection began from an Amati cello, once the property of Gregor Piatigorsky, which the quartet acquired in 1958.

Formed in 1946 as a student group at the Juilliard School of Music, the LaSalle Quartet has performed throughout the United States and Europe. The day after its Princeton appearance, the group will begin its seventh international tour.

For their Princeton appearance, the four will play Mozart's Quartet in D Major, K. 575; Brahms' Quartet in B Flat Major, Opus 67 and the Quartet No. 3 by the Israeli composer, Herbert Brun, who is now in residence at the University of Illinois.

PIANIST TO PLAY

In Faculty Recital. Mathilde McKinney, composer and pianist, will appear in recital Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Playhouse of Westminster Choir College. She will present the fourth in the current series of faculty recitals.

A graduate of Oberlin Conservatory and the Juilliard School of Music, Mrs. McKinney is associate professor of theory and head of the department at Westminster Choir College. She has also taught at Wooster College and at Douglass College.

For six years, Mrs. McKinney was official pianist for the Pittsburgh Orchestra under Fritz Reiner. She has performed with orchestras in Pittsburgh, Tulsa and South Bend and has given recitals in Town Hall, New York, and the Carnegie Recital Hall.

Her musical compositions have been performed by the Princeton Symphony, the Princeton High School Choir, the chorus of Miss Fine's School and by Joseph Kovacs, violinist and Janice Harsanyi, soprano.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN

"Evening" Is Re-Scheduled. Postponed because of the assassination of President Kennedy, "An Evening with Gilbert and Sullivan" will be given in 10 McCosh on campus on Thursday, January 16, at 8:30.

All participants announced for the previous performance will appear — including Lee H. Bristol Jr. — and all tickets for the former date will be honored. Additional tickets at $2.50 will be on sale at the McCarter Theatre box-office next Monday.

"An Evening with Gilbert and Sullivan," will consist of familiar solos, duets and ensembles from all the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. The Savoyards of Princeton are sponsors of the "evening."

buckwheat and probably even more.

You can also buy pure sunflower seed without any of that milky stuff mixed in. This is a little on the filet mignon side, however, costing $2 for a ten-pound lot. Other prices are — Lyric wild bird seed, $1.30; Economy wild bird seed, $1.10 and chick grains 75 cents, all for ten-pound bags. You may buy more than ten pounds, of course. Tons, if you like.

Suet cakes at Rosedale have been studded and impregnated with all kinds of seeds like buckwheat, peanut hearts and so on, and there is even pure beef suet without any seed at all. We like the little nut-cups full of seedy suet made just for chickadees and costing eight cents each.

To accommodate all the guests and the food, you need a buffet, and Rosedale has many. Bird feeders start at $1.80 for a little feeder much too small for those big, aggressive startlings and go right up to $17.80 for an eight-foot aluminum pole which holds a veritable Frank Lloyd Wright of a redwood feeder. It has glass on three sides with a capacious perch and a flexibility which allows it to turn as the wind blows. This means you can always see the birdie. (The pole is pointed, and can be speared into the ground.)

A rack to hold the cake of suet hangs up and away from

... Just A Snack?

We always knew that people ate a lot over the holiday season, but did you ever cook for a nuthatch?

The men behind the counter down at Rosedale Mills sold three tons of birdseed last week. When we stopped in for a peck of sunflower seed, they told us with some awe that they'd sold over a ton of seed in the preceding two days alone.

That tally doesn't even include sunflower seed, which is only fair because probably a lot of customers buy sunflower seed for the birds and end up salting it for cocktail guests who stop at the birdfeeder unexpectedly.

It's not only nuthatches, of course, but chickadees, cardinals, woodpeckers — eat you out of house and home, Six thousand pounds!

the pussy-cat and a five-foot steel pole has a disc which is optimistically called a "squirrel baffle." We've never seen anything yet that would baffle a squirrel, but perhaps this does. It's $4.50.

The best, most straightforward feeder in the whole store is the $12.50 model designed to attach outside a window. It looks hand-made, fashioned of good, honest pine instead of redwood, and made with narrow boxes that ration the birdseed, a little at a time. Obviously designed by a farmer.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kommler
We heard some facts about citrus fruit which may not be well known. Indications are that man knew and ate them thousands of years ago in Asia. There are references to oranges, for example, in Chinese writing back in about 2200 B.C. From there they seem to have spread to India and Africa's east coast, then to the eastern Mediterranean. Records show they were cultivated in Italy in the first century, A.D., but it was not until Columbus' second expedition in 1493 that he introduced them in western islands, and it was somewhere between 1501 and 1518 when the first planting of orange seeds was made on this continent. It is believed that St. Augustine planted the first orange and other fruit seeds in Florida when he settled there in 1565. Two centuries after St. Augustine's first seed planting, these evergreen orange trees were found growing wild in various parts of Florida. Today it is a huge industry, and the U.S. leads all other countries in the production of sweet oranges. And may we modestly say that we lead in the kind of attention and service that gives you maximum long run economy. Please may we serve you? COOK NAMED AS COUNSEL To Housing Authority

Thomas P. Cook, has been appointed general counsel of the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton, it was announced this week by Mrs. Steve M. Slaby, executive director and secretary of the authority. Mr. Cook succeeds Donald R. Bryant Jr.

Mr. Cook, a graduate of Princeton University with the class of 1932 is a member of the Princeton Township Open Space Commission and a trustee of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association. He was a deputy Attorney General for New Jersey from 1949 to 1959, and served on Township Committee from 1959 to 1962.

He was president of the Princeton Community Chest, and the first recipient of the United Community Fund's Gerard B. Lambert Award for Community Service.

FENDER VS. BUMPER

22 Bouts Last Week. The season's first sizeable snowfall, which blanketed the area early last week, triggered a rash of minor skidding accidents in the Borough and Township. In all, the Township docket listed eight, the Borough's, 14.

The most spectacular accident was not the result of a skid, however. Early Christmas morning at 4:50 a.m. police report, Mayer M. Swaab, 37, 16 Charlton Street, fell asleep while driving on Washington Road near the intersection of Faculty Road.

This car, which went off the roadway and hit a Public Service pole, was a total loss. Mr. Swaab sustained a possible broken nose.

Two days earlier, Larry Hutchinson, 25, of Metuchen, joined a long list of drivers from outside the Princeton area who have met misfortune at the Kingston Bridge.

Mr. Hutchinson failed to make the curve at the bridge the evening of the snowfall. His skidding car crossed over the line, hit the north side of the bridge and then caromed off and struck the south side before spinning completely around and coming to rest. He was uninjured.

In the Borough, Nicholas Lombardo, 38, 49 Palmer Square, and John H. Brenneiman, 39, 6 Queenston Place, suffered minor injuries as a result of similar accidents.

Parked on Nassau Street opposite Evelyn Place, Mr. Lombardo was attempting to get out of his car Saturday when its left door was struck by a car operated by Grace E. Bonner, 58, 41 Leavitt Lane. He was taken to Princeton Hospital where his right arm was treated for contusions and x-rayed.

Mr. Brenneiman was attempting to close the left door of his car when it was hit by a skidding car driven by Sal Di Meglio, 23, 93 Birch Ave. He received lacerations to his left hand. The mishap took place early last week in front of Urken's Hardware Store, 27 Witherspoon Street.

NURSERY SURPRISED

By Generous Californian.

One of Santa's helpers this year was a woman in California who sent more than 40 gifts to Princeton Nursery School. The unexpected and welcome presents helped create one of the best Christmases the nursery has known.

Mrs. F. J. McGrann of Palmdale, Calif., sent an individually wrapped and labeled gift for each child. In a note to Miss Eve Miller, nursery director, she said she had enlisted the aid of her older boys in the project.

In 1956, Mrs. McGrann sent each child a Christmas card and two pennies. Her interest had been aroused by an article on the Leigh Avenue school which appeared in the Ladies' Home Journal. The nursery supported by the United Fund, has given day-long care for the children of working mothers for 35 years.

During the intervening years, Mrs. McGrann has sent Christmas cards to the nursery staff. When she wrote in September requesting the names of the children, the school never dreamed of the extent of her plans.

The mother of four children herself, ages 2½ to 14, she knows the delight her gifts brought.

DECOR ON A BUDGET

For Young Housewives. The fun and challenge of decorating a home on a limited budget will be explored by housewives who take "Decorating Is Fun," a course of six lectures planned by the YWCA as part of its winter program.

The lectures will be under the guidance of Mrs. Richard M. Huber, and will feature Don Brune of Nassau Interiors who will speak on room arrangement; Bernard Cooke of The Home Furnishing Shop, who will discuss practical decorating; and Sam Bahadurian who will describe Oriental and broadloom carpeting. In addition, Mrs. Huber will present Cay Mohrman, who will give her talk on table settings and accessories.

Registration will be this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the "Y".

WOMEN WILL MEET

To Hear Psychologist. Dr. Herbert I. Abelson, chief psychologist and vice-president of Opinion Research Corporation, will discuss "Who Are the Tastemakers?" before a meeting Wednesday evening of the Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The program will be held at 8:15 at All Saints' Chapel on Van Dyke Road. At the meeting, members will be asked to consider supporting the Civil Rights Bill, which is being backed by National Headquarters of AAUW in Washington, D. C.

Disney Defended

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I violently disagree with your review of Disney's "Sword in the Stone." I saw it and loved it. My parents and their friends saw it, and they too loved it. None of them found anything "unmoving" about it.

GRACE STITELY

Princeton Junction

(Editor's note: Our reviewer said the movie "will delight anyone under 7, will divert anyone under 15, will leave anyone older about as unmoved as Excalibur is before the right-wing Wart grabs it." He now adds: "My nine-year-old has seen it five times, my 15-year-old three times, my wife twice. They all love it. They're calling me Grumpy the Dwarf.")

The Price of Complacency.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Borough school system is in trouble. It is in trouble because it has two antiquated elementary school buildings which have been in need of replacement for many years, and because plans for the proposed new Borough School Center are not moving ahead as smoothly as anticipated. The snag on which these plans have ground to a halt is a conflict among the Borough School Board, the Township Planning Board, and the Westminster Choir College regarding the fate of Franklin and Guyot Avenues.

The fundamental reason for this dilemma is the lack of coordinated planning among the agencies of the Borough and the Township. In my opinion, such problems will continue to arise, inevitably and recurrently, until such time as the arbitrary administration boundaries between Borough and Township are abolished.

That is why all Princeton citizens must hope for the success of the Dilley Committee, which was set up by the mayors of Borough and Township eight months ago to study all the various ways of cooperation between the two municipalities, including consolidation. I believe that the Dilley Committee is pursuing its difficult task with integrity, thoroughness, and a sense of civic responsibility. Whether it will be able to complete its job soon enough to help get a school built is another question.

It is not only schools and schoolchildren that are at stake. It is also a library, and a traffic problem, and open space, and indeed the preservation of the special academic-residential character of Princeton itself.

The question of consolidation cannot be delegated merely to the members of a study committee. It is in fact the responsibility of all of us.

Time is running out. If we continue to be complacent, we shall pay the penalty. And the record will speak for itself.

HARVEY ROTHBERG, M.D.

A Letter of Thanks.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

To my fellow firemen in the Princeton Fire Department, and friends, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the excellent support and cooperation I have received this past year as Chief of your fire department.

To the Board of Engineers, who have been most helpful and have always responded when called upon.

To the Firemen, who gave of their efforts and time, regardless of personal risk, to aid their neighbors in time of need. This is what constitutes the Princeton Fire Department of which I am most proud to be a part.

To Mayor Patterson, and all the members of the Borough Council, for their wonderful leadership and guidance.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

January 1, 1959. On the first day of 1959, TOWN TOPICS took both a look ahead and a look at the year just ended. For the new year, it said that 1958 might well shape up as a "go" year or a "no" year in both the Borough and the Township, depending on the amount of action taken by the two municipalities' governing bodies.

Main problem facing the Borough Council on the doorstep of 1959 was that of proposed "urban renewal." In the Township, the No. 1 project for the year was seen to be the completion and activation of the "master plan."

In looking back at 1958, TOWN TOPICS remarked on the record Borough and Township school budgets as "a reflection of the value placed on these two fine systems by Princeton's citizenry." It also noted that newly-elected Mayor Raymond F. Male was the first Democratic leader in the Borough in a decade and that Governor Meyner had put Princeton in the national political spotlight "for the first time since Woodrow Wilson's era."

A letter from a stamp-selling company in Seoul, Korea, had been received by the Princeton Business Association. It read: "We are interested in to collect Korean postage stamp buyers in your locality and we sincerely to ask your indulgent favor of handing over this information to those interested parties and or you will kindly furnish us the buyers' list, if you have them."

Anonymous - Bul - True - Story - of - the - Week The one about the somewhat choleric Princeton gentleman who had read most of John O'Hara's "From The Terrace," had grown so annoyed that he tossed it into the fireplace, then had bought another copy at the U-Store next day to see if the novel ended better than it had begun.

TEN YEARS AGO

December 31, 1953. "The New Year," announced TOWN TOPICS' roving reporter just before press time on New Year's Eve in 1953, "will be a little late at midnight." He had added, however, that "there is no need to adjust watches. The New Year will be late — but only by three-tenths of a second."

This source had been the Neufchatel Observatory in Switzerland, which determines the exact time for the Swiss watchmakers. Its astronomers had reported that the rotation of the world is slowing gradually, accounting for the fractional change in time. "A hundred years from now," our man had continued, "the year 2053 will be about 30 seconds longer." Even by 1963 the year was approximately three seconds longer than 1953, lending support to the theory that somebody somewhere must have paid attention to the urgent plea, "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off."

A steady stream of contributions during the final week of 1953 had raised the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund to $2,091.25, marking the second year in a row that it had topped the $2,000 mark. In the last week ten years later, the 1963 contributions topped $3,000 for a fifth straight year.

Princetonians who commuted via the Pennsy ten years ago had found nothing but debris and a large hole in the ground where the 19th century junction station had stood. An uncontrollable fire early the preceding Sunday morning had completely demolished the structure. Probable cause wire-chewing mice.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO December 30, 1948. Sign-of-the-times note: At a local bookstore, General Eisenhower and a faceless character called "a schmoo" were competing for leadership. Ike's "Crusade in Europe" and Al Capp's "Life and Times of the Schmoo" were deadlocked in the race for best-seller honors.

A four-year-old boy had carefully wrapped up five Christmas presents for himself. At the end of the festivities on Christmas morning in 1948 he had brought them forth and opened them with the greatest possible delight and surprise.

They were: (1) his last year's fire engine, (2) a battered toy jeep, (3) an empty box, (4) a wad of newspaper, and (5) a twist of cotton. Of the last one he said with the wisdom of one who had already learned that there is both joy and sorrow in the world: "It's for if I get a earache again."

A year-end classified in TOWN TOPICS in 1948 indicated that someone's Christmas gift had gone astray. It read: "LOST — ONE AND ONE-HALF GRAY SOCKS in red plaid knitting bag. If found, please call 851."

PROGRESS TOWARD WORLD PEACE? Yes, say J. Douglas Brown (left) and Dr. George Gallup. But others disagree. And probably no one has measured this inevitable difference of opinion so successfully for so long a period as Princeton's Dr. Gallup, founder of the widely-known Gallup Poll.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the world is nearer to peace on earth right now than at any other time since World War II?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

James Godsmen, 156 Mercer Street, student, Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania: No, I don't think so because of the situation in Cyprus, the situation in Laos and problems within our own country such as civil rights. I think we should be prepared to look forward to a fairly bitter conflict between Russia and Red China. I also think the practice of large nations exploiting underdeveloped ones will create problems for the future.

Clarence Wyckoff, Route 579, Pennington, security officer for Princeton bank: As far as I'm concerned, that's debatable. Sometimes you feel this is it, but the next minute she turns around and tries to slash our throat. It sort of makes you wonder. Generally, I would say we are closer to peace right now than we have been.

Herbert Gerjouy, 30 Valley Road, research psychologist: No, I think the world is nearer to resolution of the now traditional conflict between the Communist bloc and the West, but we are discovering that history moves on and that other conflicts now appear more likely. Such as conflicts between the Indonesians and Malaysians, the Chinese and Russians, and Arabs and Israelis.

William Lauder, 44 Knowles Drive, management information analyst: Yes, because I think some real efforts have been made over the last 15-20 years to bring about a peaceful settlement of our problems. We still have a strong United Nations and I think people have a stronger religion today, no matter what it may be.

Mrs. Helen Spiro, 102 N. Stanworth Drive, housewife: No, I think international relations are of such a complex nature that there is even more danger of a conflagration, shall we say. Just the fact that we have an increase in the number of nuclear weapons and that more countries have them would work against it.

Dr. George Gallup, The Great Road, director of Gallup and Robinson and founder of the Gallup Poll: Yes, I have a feeling the world gets better every single year, and the whole spirit of mankind improves slowly but surely every year.

Mrs. David Elms, 218-A Marshall Street, physicist: No, I wouldn't say so. I don't think things have really changed much in the past few years and I don't think they have changed that much this year. I don't feel much has been changed in our relationship with the Russians. There have been concessions but something else is invariably taken away. It's a case of taking it from one hand and giving it to the other.

J. Douglas Brown, 73 Nassau

Street, Dean of the Faculty, Princeton University: Yes, I do. Because the level of education is advancing throughout the world; there is a greater understanding of the seriousness of war; there is a greater interdependence through trade, such as with Europe; more people are moving from one country to another, gaining understanding; and I think Russia is beginning to see more clearly than ever that its interests lie with the West rather than the East.

Mrs. Vivian Neighbor, Hightstown, secretary, Applied Management Service, 20 Nassau: It's difficult to say, losing our president like we did, but I think we are. There are no boiling pots right now that are as crucial as they have been. And I think President Johnson is a capable replacement for President Kennedy.

William Reinheimer, 18 Edgehill Street, president, Princeton Photo Process: Yes, I think we have passed the crisis point so many times that we will be able to pass the rest of them as they come along. Obviously, the situation is better between Russia and the United States; the future course of Red China is unknown as much to the Russians, I believe, as it is to us.

Douglas Dean, Princeton Junction, research: Yes, I do. I think the H-Bomb is acting as the policeman of the nations of the world. The League of Nations and the United Nations were set up to do it but they cannot yet do it effectively in the present state of man's evolution.

Miss Jessie A. Rosenberg, Cherry Valley Road, Princeton High senior: I think it's improving. I think there were a lot of things which happened in 1963 which moved us closer to peace—such as establishing a test ban treaty. But I still feel we have a long way to go, especially in the field of disarmament.

Walter E. Johnson, 142 Nassau Street, retired teacher: Yes, I do. I think Russia may have slightly reappraised certain conditions; I think President Kennedy had convinced them of our sincerity in our negotiations—that we truly desired peace. I think there is this subtle change that has occurred.

Miss Virginia Penrose, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, student: Yes, I definitely think so. I think Russia is much more interested in making peace with us. I think they have found it easier to get along with us. We negotiate with Russia now on all aspects of foreign affairs. I think there is a definite warming between the two countries.

T. N. Chen, 4 Harris Road, engineer: I don't think so because you are asking someone who has had experience dealing with the Communists. No matter what they may say, I wouldn't trust them. If you get cheated 100 times, it is hard to conceive that you won't get cheated the next time. I personally don't trust the Communists.

Mayor Patterson's Recommendations for 1964

(Following is the complete text of the New Year's Day address at Borough Hall by Mayor Henry S. Patterson.)

For the third time, it is my privilege to address the Council and the citizens of the Borough of Princeton on the first day of the New Year and to review briefly the year just past and to take a forward look at 1964.

Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-three was a year that one might wish to forget, but cannot and should not. In Princeton, there were triumphs and turmoil, all out-weighted and overshadowed by national tragedy.

Two of our triumphs were the selection of a site for a new Joint Public Library and the magnificent exhibit commemorating the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the Borough. For turmoil, we had the senseless student riot and the ill-timed and ill-conceived appearance on the University Campus of the Governor of Mississippi. The tragedy, of course, was the assassination, on November 22, 1963, of a great President.

I have selected these five events to comment upon because they typify what happened in 1963 and because their broader importance and meaning will have or can have a material effect on 1964 and the years thereafter.

Priority for Library. After several, if not many years of searching, the Joint Library Board selected, during 1963, a site for a new Public Library and the Borough and the Township governing bodies took the necessary steps to assure the availability of the site for library use. I herewith recommend to Council that the construction of the new Library be given priority for capital funds. This priority can be given and still permit the Borough to meet in an orderly manner other capital needs for recreation, open space, and a new Borough Hall.

If a system of priorities is not adopted, we may find ourselves doing nothing or doing more than we can really afford. The consequence of the latter is a soaring tax rate.

The selection of the Library site is history, but the Borough-Township cooperation and understanding that led to it, and to the settlement of other long-standing controversies are historic. The two municipalities have agreed informally on the basis for a new agreement on sewer facilities which will relieve the Borough of its role as the banker for improvements and additions.

We have agreed, again informally, on a formula for sharing the operating and capital costs for other joint undertakings based on the respective tax rates of each municipality. The Borough looks forward to action in 1964 which will formally adopt these agreements.

To Study Mutual Problems. Along with these historic agreements, the Borough will continue to press for continuation and completion of the studies being carried out by the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations. In this regard, it should be noted again that the Joint Committee is not seeking consolidation as the end product of its work, but solutions to mutual problems.

The recent exhibit marking the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the Borough was an unqualified success and we are indebted to those who so successfully planned and executed it. During 1964 and for years to come, it will do much to maintain the spirit of the Princeton Community and pride in its heritage. We now have a better understanding of what we must seek to preserve and to avoid.

Princeton Borough is the center of an area experiencing the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

a thriving real estate boom. We are feeling the pressures for high density, luxury apartments and for extensions of the business districts. Often such pressures are accompanied by extravagant claims about the tax benefits such facilities bring.

Perhaps, they do! More likely, they do not! Much more important is the fact that they will change Princeton for the worse. Princeton will change! It must change! But it can change and still preserve our heritage from the past.

To Mark Tercentenary. The Borough's anniversary exhibit also served as a preview of the Tercentenary of New Jersey, which will take place in 1964. A Borough-Township Committee for the Tercentenary has been formed and is at work.

I urge every citizen to assist this committee. Certainly, Princeton has been important to the history of the State and should, therefore, play an important part in the Tercentenary celebration.

The student riot of last year was serious enough, and it might have been worse, but for the patience and competence of the Borough Police and Fire Department, who although severely provoked, did not return violence with violence. Because of the extent of the riot and the publicity it received, it will long be remembered.

To me, however, it is more important as a reminder that we have a University in our midst and that the University and the Borough do work together in striving to solve their mutual problems. During 1964, as has been the case in the past, we will work together on the truck by-pass, the present status of which can only be described as being like a desert mirage — so tantalizingly close to reality, but still not real. I have heard optimistic reports on its status from State officials; a route will soon be fixed and rights of way purchased. However, the Borough, the University, and other interested municipalities cannot and will not relax their efforts until the by-pass becomes a reality.

Other Problems Listed. The University and the Borough will have other problems to discuss, work on, and hopefully solve during 1964. The recent purchase by the University of the Nassau Street School property may be one of them; land use and financial contributions will certainly be two more.

The appearance in Princeton of the Governor of Mississippi, together with the proposal of the Borough Housing Authority to provide public housing for the elderly, made Princeton more conscious of the racial issues and problems in the community. We do have problems with regard to open housing, equal opportunities and the like, as much as we would like to believe we do not.

These problems must be faced and they can be solved by mutual understanding and equal effort by all of us. Recently, a Human Rights Commission was proposed. I opposed it, not because it would not be useful but because there were other, less formal groups which are, in my opinion, more useful. I now call on these groups and all other citizens of the Borough to unite, in order to eliminate whatever prejudice and discrimination exists in our community.

Tribute to Kennedy. There is little to be said that has not already been said about the tragic death of President Kennedy. In recalling this tragedy, my purpose is to remind the citizens of the Borough of one thing for which President Kennedy stood.

He believed that democracy can only be strong when citizens take an active part in their government. He lived and died for this belief, by choosing to undertake the heavy burdens of being President of the United States, rather than to enjoy the material resources which were his.

In Princeton, we can be proud of those who have served in government, such as Mr. Ralph D. Hult who today completes his term on Council, and Mr. Arthur T. Brokaw who is leaving the Borough after serving for almost five years as Borough Engineer.

MAYOR PATTERSON: For 1964, progress on Public Library ... drive toward 206 By-Pass ... equal rights for all.

We can be thankful for the loyal and competent individuals, many with long years of unselfish devotion to the interests of the community, who are Borough employees or serve as volunteers on the many Borough and community boards and committees. Today, we extend a most cordial welcome to this group to our newly elected Councilman, Prof. Joseph R. Strayer.

However, for each individual who has been or is active in your Borough government, there are many who take their local government for granted. A fitting memorial to our late President would be a rekindled interest on the part of all Borough citizens in their local government, an interest which would extend to more frequent attendance at Council meetings, more willingness to serve on municipal boards and committees, more active participation in local politics, and a greater desire to run for elective office.

1964 HEART FUND DRIVE PARTICIPANTS: These four will take part in the annual drive. They are, from left, Mrs. Theodore T. Tams Jr., chairman of volunteers; Archie C. Lummis, treasurer; Mrs. Clifton C. Bennett, chairman; and Miss Bess Myerson, TV star and former Miss America, who will conduct the kick-off meeting for volunteers on January 30.

HEART FUND PLANS MADE

Drive Set for February. The 1964 Princeton Heart Fund Drive will be conducted during the entire month of February, according to Mrs. Clifton C. Bennett, chairman. Mrs. Bennett has also announced that Mrs. Richard J. Hughes, the Governor's wife, will serve as honorary chairman and that Archie G. Lummis, of the First National Bank, will be treasurer.

In order to reach all Princeton residents, it will be necessary to enroll about 35 captains and 360 volunteers for the Heart Fund campaign. Mrs. Bennett said Mrs. Theodore T. Tams Jr., chairman of volunteers, is now actively recruiting workers who, she says, "will serve a two-fold purpose. They will call on neighbors as 'educational ambassadors,' leaving lists of free pamphlets about heart diseases, and they will also collect contributions."

A meeting for campaign captains will be held on January 16 at Princeton Hospital. Dr. Louis Fishman, an internist and cardiac specialist on the hospital's medical staff, will speak on "Recent Advances in Cardiovascular Research" and will demonstrate the importance of an electrocardiograph machine in heart examination.

The campaign kick-off meeting will be held on January 30 at the Princeton Inn. Miss Bess Myerson, TV star and former Miss America, will conduct the meeting and talk about successful fund-raising methods. Volunteer candidates interested in working for the drive and in attending the opening meeting are urged to call Mrs. Tams at WA 1-2720.

NEEDY BOYS TO BENEFIT

From Pre-college Study. About 40 high school boys from indigent city families will move onto the Princeton University campus this summer. The object is to prepare them for admission to any first-rate college.

President Robert F. Goheen has announced a $150,000 grant from the Rockefeller Foundation which will partially support the project during a three-year pilot period.

"Our office of admission," he said, "has actively sought the application of Negro candidates and others from low-income families for some years, and many of our sister organizations have been similarly active."

"The simple, tragic fact is that very few boys from such backgrounds are scholastically prepared to enter college. The great bulk of Negro youth is in this group."

Committee of Nine. Prof. Jeremiah S. Finch of the university's English department will serve as chairman of the Executive Committee. Other members are William J. Baumol, professor of economics; Richard Beck, superintendent of Trenton schools; Thomas B. Hartmann, headmaster of Princeton Day Schools; Bruce McClellan, headmaster of Lawrenceville School, and Chester R. Stroup, superintendent of the Princeton Borough Schools.

Also, Sheldon Judson, associate professor of geology at the university and acting director of summer studies, and Parker L. Coddington, administrative director of summer studies, who will serve as executive secretary.

Nearby Schools. Boys of all races will be chosen from high schools within a 75-mile radius of Princeton. They will be between their sophomore and junior years and will have shown potential for college work.

For eight weeks, the students will live, study and spend their leisure hours on the campus. A carefully selected group of high school teachers, university professors and Princeton undergraduates will serve as tutors and counsellors. The staff plans to keep in close touch with the boys during their final two years in high school.

"This is not a recruiting plan for Princeton," President Goheen said. "We want to contribute, not to their choice of college, but to making real the very possibility of such a choosing."

BUSINESS In Princeton

"PHENOMENAL"

The Business of Christmas. Judged from the economic point of view, with the sound of the cash register providing "Jingle Bells," it was one of the best Christmas seasons the Princeton retail community has ever had.

"Phenomenal" said one Nassau Street shop-owner, almost unbelievably. "We did 57% more business than we did a year ago."

The owner of The Furniture Barn on Route One estimates that during the first three weeks of December, he did twice as much business as he did in the same period last year. Part of this increase, he admits, derives from the fact that he almost doubled his store space during 1963, but he believes too, that the growing area around him makes a difference.

"This is a growing part of the world," he says, "and anybody who isn't growing is out."

Up and Up. Back on Nassau Street, Zinder's reports an 11 percent increase in sales. "Except for two or three mornings, I would say there were more people in the store and more activity in the store, than I can remember in many years," commented Merrill Zinder. "And about twice as many telephone calls!"

"The big problem is parking. I had more complaints about it this year than ever before."

"We started up slow, but we ended up great," said F.J. Worthington, manager of the Princeton University Store. "And when all the figures are in, we'll probably be ahead. Our book department did especially well."

The University Store book department has its own interesting comment on the economics of life in Princeton: all 15 copies of its $85 book on Chartres Cathedral were sold.

The slow start Mr. Worthington mentions is traceable, of course, to the death of President Kennedy. David Landau says that, on the afternoon Kennedy was shot, customers about to make a purchase simply walked out of his store, almost in a daze. He estimates that he lost about five days, but he picked up the loss later to come out with a "very satisfactory season."

Warm weather and the late Thanksgiving contributed to the "slow start," too. One big gift shop said the season began "terribly late" because of the period of mourning, the warm weather and the late Thanksgiving, but that the total volume held up very well.

The late Thanksgiving is also a potentially adverse factor in newspaper advertising: this year, TOWN TOPICS published only three issues between Thanksgiving and Christmas compared to four in 1962. Nonetheless, the total number of pages in its pre-Christmas issues was greater than last year and the sold-out 64-page issue of December 12 is the largest newspaper ever published in Princeton.

Snow Is Good. "The snow was wonderful!" said one store. "We did more business when it snowed." This store reported that the overall was "very nice, and better than last year."

Incidentally, Mr. Landau commented on the snow in much the same manner. He had more business on the Monday before Christmas, with snow and a storm, than he did the next day, which was the traditional "last day" of Christmas Eve shopping.

"It was a wonderful year!" a gift shop owner said. "I think we had about 40% more than we have had in other years. Only that one weekend after Kennedy's death was slow, but we picked it all up. I wish I could tell my customers how much I appreciate all they did for me. I'm planning next Christmas already!"

A shop which specializes in expensive gifts reports only "pretty good" and "a little bit better than last year," and a store which caters to people with lower incomes also says "only a little better," leaving the analyst to wonder just what Princeton is made of, economically.

Ahead on Wheels. Bicycles went ahead on a fast track—"We sold more than ever before," reported one store. "We also had more customers in the store than we did last year."

"That's how we tell—by the number of customers. Why, the day before Christmas, we must have had 1,500 people in here, and this time of the year, we figure that for every three people who come in, we sell to one."

Two Princeton furniture stores are generally content—"a little better than '62," for one, and "about on a par with last year" for the other. "Snow killed it the last two days, but then, we don't sell much expensive furniture for Christmas, anyway."

One of these two had a surprising increase in the sale of bedding and in particular, the kind of bedding one uses for guests: convertible couches and the like. "I guess everybody had holiday guests," said the manager.

Raymond F. Male, viewing his third Christmas as owner of a book shop, says he did a heavy mailing business all during the season. "One Sunday, I spent the day sending off books—I sent them to 30 different countries all over the world—Asia, India, South America. I would say this part of our business increased three or four-fold."

Male's sold fewer cartoon books and what Mr. Male calls "splashy, flashy" books this year, and more biographies, histories and books on current events.

One of the stores that reported a "very nice" season also had this to say—it was a more expensive year than ever before.

"We had more requests for donations and ads than ever before—even from Trenton, Morrisville, Plainsboro and Cranbury. It was really amazing, and difficult, too. It's hard to turn that kind of thing down."

Over the country as a whole, Christmas mailing was below expectation. In Princeton, however, there was 3.8% increase over last year in outgoing mail. Between December 1 and 25 last year, the piece count was 1,743,000. This year, it was 1,809,000.

Arthur P. Morgan

James Quick, superintendent of mails, also reported a "slight decrease" in parcel post, both incoming and outgoing, and he thinks this is probably due to President Kennedy's death.

"It seemed like an easy season here at the post office," Mr. Quick observed. "We were never really hard-pushed. Maybe everybody really did mail early."

MORGAN APPOINTED

By Clark, Dodge, Arthur P. Morgan of 18 Hibben Road has joined the Princeton office of Clark, Dodge & Co., Inc., New York investment brokers. He was formerly vice-president for corporate diversification at Richardson-Merrell, Inc.

Mr. Morgan, a member of the Princeton Borough Planning and Zoning Boards, has held various management positions in commercial banking and drug manufacturing. Starting in 1946, he spent six years in Central and South America for E.R. Squibb & Sons, drug and chemical manufacturers, returning to New York in 1953 as regional director for Latin America.

In 1955, he joined The Empire Trust Company of New York, where he became a vice-president, specializing in new business development and corporate loans. He was also a vice-president of Empire Small Business Investment Company and a director of Security Insurance Company of New Haven, Conn.

Moving to Richardson-Merrell in 1961, Mr. Morgan was responsible for purchasing new companies and products for the firm, which has diversified pharmaceutical, chemical and plastics interests.

He is a trustee of The Princeton Day Schools and The Marquand Park Foundation.

RCA EARNINGS UP 25%

Second Peak Year. Radio Corporation of America has announced a 1963 operating profit of $65 million after taxes. Profits show an increase of 25% over 1962; gross income of $1,780 million is up 2%.

In a year-end report, David Sarnoff, RCA chairman, commented "RCA has now had 11 consecutive quarters of increased profitability over the same periods of the previous years. The final quarter of 1963 will be the single best profit quarter in the 44-year history of the company."

Earnings per common share will be $3.55 to $3.60, compared with the 1962 figure of $2.84, he said.

General Sarnoff cited color TV, broadcasting and data processing as growth factors. He also noted the company's "increasingly effective management operation," which now includes "more than 60 key line and staff officials below the age of 45."

UNFORTUNATE BUT TRUE
Tigers Strictly One-Man Team. Princeton's first appearance in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla., not only proved thoroughly disappointing to Tiger basketball followers but also served to tag the Orange and Black with the depressing label of a one-man team.

From the pieces of a tournament Princeton might well have won with a minimum degree of assistance for Bill Bradley instead of finishing dead last, these facts emerged:

If the big All-American fouls out early, the Tigers are promptly transformed into a row of sitting ducks. Against Syracuse Friday, they had a nine-point lead (52-43) with 12:49 to go when Bradley left the floor with his fifth personal. Less than five minutes later, a Syracuse all-court press and frequent Princeton errors had given the New Yorkers the lead and they finished an easy 76-71 victor.

Rarely if ever in Princeton basketball history has one player made better than 60% of his team's points, but Bradley accomplished that Saturday when he got the disorganized Tigers 34 of their 56 points against Army. Unbelievably, ten other players could account for just 22 points among them, and Army, beaten by these same Princetonians, 80 to 73, last month, was a 60-to-56 victor at Miami.

The irony of it all became

How Close Can You Get?

Excerpts from last week's prediction by Lester Riddick, an employee of Harold G. Houghton, Princeton builder, on the outcome of the Bears-Giant football game:

"The Bears have a terrific defensive team. I think it is good enough to stop Title. It'll be pretty close. I'll say the score will be 14-10, Bears."

As every pro football fan in these parts knows, it was 14-10, Bears.

even more evident in the championship game later Saturday night. The same Syracuse quintet which Princeton had on the run until its collapse went on to defeat Miami by a point (86-85) and win the Hurricane Classic.

League Season Nears. The Tigers' problem is not that they failed to show well against reasonably routine opposition in Florida, but that they have nothing approaching a solid team with the Ivy League race a little over a week away. On Friday, January 10, Brown will open the Tigers' title defense in Dillon Gym, with Yale here the following night.

Off Princeton's numerous problems so far, the veteran Elis are clear-cut favorites to replace the Tigers as Ivy champions. The Bulldogs have all five of their top players from last year's quintet back and have performed well, if not victoriously, against holiday tournament opposition that was far tougher than the teams on Princeton's schedule in Florida.

In his search for a winning combination, Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff has rarely started the same four players with Bradley. Against Syracuse, it was Ed Steube, Rick Wright, Captain Bill Howard and Wal-ly Uhle. The following night, Don Rodenbach replaced Steube and 6-6 Don Niemann stood in for Howard.

Niemann rebounded well but doesn't score and picked up four fouls very early. Rodenbach has a fairly good eye from outside the circle, but is short on defensive ability. Bob Haarlow, who looked like the early-season answer to another player who can hit in double figures consistently, has failed to do so in both games in Kentucky and both in Florida.

Victory Was in Sight. After a ding-dong first half with Syracuse in which Princeton trailed by five in the early going but moved impressively out to a 41-36 lead at the intermission, the Tigers had matters in apparent control. Bradley had picked up three personals late in the period, but he had played 18 minutes in Dillon Gym with four against him this season and belief was he could stay in action.

It wasn't so. Consistent but extremely close officiating resulted in two more calls against the Tigers' big man, and he departed with almost 13 minutes to go. The Orange and Black proved to be as unlucky as the figure.

GOAL DEFINED: Bill Howard, whose home town is Princeton, Ill., has plans to lead Tiger basketball team to a second straight Ivy title. The 6-4 captain of the Orange and Black was a starting end on the football team.

Chuck Berling replaced Bradley, and contributed a valuable ten points but there was no defense against resurgent Syracuse, which demoralized the Princetonians with the first all-court press they have faced this season. With Art Hyland's magnificent direction and dribbling last year, the opposition paid dearly for such tactics, but they work against this year's team without him and with Bradley benched on fouls.

Army Rally Wins. The first half against Army was none too impressive on Princeton's part, but the Tigers were no worse than 31-all at the intermission and they had broken the game here with the cadets open in the second half. At Miami, however, an unseasonable freeze hit the Tigers as soon as the second half started, and they went the first four minutes and 12 seconds without making a point.

The cadets took advantage of the slump to run the score to 39-31, and that was all the bulge they needed. Thereafter, they put on a freeze of their own — slow-down tactics that made an occasional shot pay off and kept the Tigers from retaliating quickly.

The touring Tigers will be in St. Louis Friday night to play Washington University, completing holiday action that will have taken them a good 8,000 miles. Hopes are that the familiar surroundings of Dillon Gym will provide a solid foundation for a good start in the Ivy race the following weekend.

HOCKEY TEAM TO TRAVEL

Into New York State. Three games, among them its first this winter in Ivy League competition, will take Princeton's hockey team into New York State during the coming week. The Tigers are currently 3-3 on the season as a result of losses to Boston University, Boston College and Northeast.

ern and victories over Colgate, Williams and Hamilton.

Coach Norm Wood's skaters will face two of the east's top teams this weekend when they play Clarkson at Potsdam Friday and St. Lawrence at Canton the following night. Clarkson is the top-ranked college in this part of the nation, and won the Eastern College Athletic Conference Tournament in New York last month with clear-cut victories over Army and Boston College. There are 13 Canadians on the Clarkson squad.

The Tigers are overmatched in these games, largely because their defensive problems figure to result in high scoring by their sharp-shooting opponents. Princeton has not beaten either of these teams in the past seven years.

The first Ivy game is scheduled for Wednesday at Ithaca, against a Cornell team which last year finished in a fourth-place tie with the Tigers. The Ithacans have nine Canadians on their squad, play a wide-open brand of hockey and have a 4-1 victory over Yale to their credit in their first Ivy game.

PHS FIVE NEEDS HELP

Hightstown Here Tuesday. Will the real Princeton High School basketball team — the one with all the pre-season potential — please get together so all its followers can stop analyzing what is wrong, sit back and relax and enjoy the game? For it is readily apparent that there is something wrong with the present Little Tiger team. But nobody, from coach Tony Borzok on down, can quite put his finger on it.

SIGHTS SET ON '64: Larry Madden is one of the Princeton High School starters who will be trying to steer the PHS quintet back into the win column in January.

Last year's squad, at this juncture, was 3-0. With four returning lettermen and three starters, and strengthened by two newcomers, this year's edition was expected to do just as well. So it is not unexpected that the Little Tigers' present mark of 1-2 is somewhat disappointing.

Whether Borzok was able to come up with some of the answers over the holiday period will be learned in part Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Then Hightstown will come to town for a return match. In an exciting, double-overtime, season's opener, PHS slipped by the Rams, 40-32, for its only win.

Holidays a Problem. In discussing the squad, Borzok said that it "hasn't hit its momentum yet." Part of the blame, in his opinion, lay with the annual Christmas break. "The holidays really mess it up," said Tony. "Once they're over, we can become a little more serious."

But he acknowledged that "something had to be done." He looks at it this way:

"We don't have the punch yet. I don't know what it could be. We're erratic. We think all we have to do is shoot the ball and it will go in the basket; we don't realize we have to get in position. We're off balance."

"Maybe it's my fault that we're not in the right position. Maybe it will all fall into place all of a sudden — naturally. Other times you have to work on it. Sometimes you have to work on it all season."

"Take Larry (Madden) for example," Borzok continued. "He's not hitting at all. It's just not there. (Last winter, Madden hit for 39 points in Princeton's first three games; this year his total is two.) Our percentage of shooting is terrible."

"Take Heiberger. He should be averaging at least a dozen points per game (Heiberger has averaged six.) He's got a terrific touch."

"Maybe it's my fault. I don't know. It's early yet and as I said, it may all fall into place."

Is Tony worried over the slow start? Not in the least. Said he, "I've been in this game too long to be alarmed. I've had good seasons and I've had bad seasons. All you can do is take them one at a time."

ANYONE FOR HOCKEY?

Practice Starts at 6 a.m. The Borough Board of Education has approved an experimental program in ice hockey for high school boys. It is expected to begin as soon as possible this month.

So far, 31 boys have signed up to attend the three sessions which will be held each week at Baker Rink, starting at 6 in the morning. Ronald Dale, a teacher at PHS, has been selected to coach the program.

The idea for the program stemmed from the boys themselves, half of whom are former Pee-Wee Leaguers. After they had completed all the initial exploring of possibilities,

George Alexander, a student, appeared on their behalf before the Borough School Board.

The school board will assume the cost of coaching, ice time, safety equipment such as mouth guards and face masks and aid to indigent boys who want to play. Most boys have their skates and equipment but, under present arrangements, their parents will pay for any additional items they may need.

The Borough will shoulder about $750 for the program, or a little over $20 a boy. According to Chester Stroup, superintendent of Borough Schools, it costs about $48 to equip a boy, exclusive of skates.

The program will be intramural. Princeton High Director of Athletics Joseph Jingoli, as well as the boys themselves, have been negotiating with the University about the plans.

DEPARTMENTS TO MERGE
At University. The departments of aeronautical and mechanical engineering have been joined to form the department of aerospace and mechanical sciences at Princeton University.

Prof. Courtland D. Perkins will be chairman of the new department and Prof. Edward W. Supiger, associate chairman. President Robert F. Goheen said that the division of engineering departments into mechanical, civil, electrical and aeronautical are no longer appropriate.

This is so, he explained, because engineering education has taken on a more basic scientific character with emphasis shifting to graduate study and original research. The merger had been studied by faculty members of the departments for the past year. The action was recommended last spring.

Guests were Janice Sanner, Rhonda Swartzstein, Anne Chlenicek, Penny Plum, Myrna Hines, Betsy Quarles, Karen Iversen and Barbara Weimer. Troop advisors are Mrs. William H. Beane and Mrs. Heath Licklider.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED

To Hightstown Girl. The Douglass Alumnae Club has awarded its annual scholarship to Megan Spencer of Hightstown. Miss Spencer is a freshman at Douglass.

The club holds a pecan sale each year to raise funds for the scholarship, which is given to a girl residing in the Princeton area. Mrs. David Heacock is chairman of this year's sale. Those interested in making a purchase may contact her at WA 4-1040.

of league competition remaining in the first half of the season. Tied for second at 60 wins each are Kase Cleaners and The Key Shop. In fourth place is Jugtown Delicatessen with 56.

Last week Bill Penelli rolled a three-game total of 675, high score for this season at the Recreation Center. His single game scores were 217 189 and 269. Others equalling or exceeding the 200 mark last week in the "B" League were Bill Parke 210, Joe Tufano, 206, John Balestrieri and Frank Sannino, both 204; Jack Lacey, Ed Hoffman and Wilton Rose, all 201; and Dick Fowler, 200.

TEXAS UPSET

By Resurgent Tiger Quintet. The fortunes of Princeton's unpredictable basketball team took a quick turn for the better Monday night at Charlotte, N. C. A fine second-half performance gave the Tigers an 84-71 triumph over Texas, which last year was the Southwest Conference champion.

A capacity crowd of 11,766 took the Orange and Black and Bill Bradley to its heart as the big All-American blew the game open in the closing minutes. He collected 46 points—26 of them in the second half and in one space of 90 seconds, eight in a row.

Princeton trailed by three to five points during the early stages of the first period, but never let the Longhorns take control. Held to six points in the first ten minutes, Bradley fed Wally Uhle and Don Rodenbach so well that the two sophomores played a major part in keeping the Tigers close.

Then Bradley began to shoot steadily, bringing Princeton even at 38-all. Uhle hit at the buzzer to give the Ivy League champions a 42-40 advantage.

Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff's quintet trailed twice by a point following the intermission, but with ten minutes to go, took a 56-54 lead and then gradually moved into the driver's seat.

Iacavazzi Married

Cosmo Iacavazzi, captain-elect of Princeton's football team, and Marion McGraw of Scranton, Pa., were married Saturday at St. Patrick's Church in their home town. They will live here at 71 Pine Street.

An All-American scholastic fullback, Iacavazzi was a unanimous choice this season for the All-Ivy team. He also placed on All-East teams and on the coaches' third All-American team. Scoring 84 points, he tied for first place nationally in this department.

Rick Wright connected on a layup, Bradley converted a pair of fouls and then helped break the game open with an unusual four-point play.

Hitting from the circle, he was fouled after the shot. With the bonus rule in effect, he made those free throws to raise the Tigers' margin to 65-57.

By this time, the huge crowd was yelling at Bradley to shoot every time he got the ball. Often he passed off, but when he did go for the basket, it was with a variety of hooks, jumpers and layups that had the spectators howling with pleasure.

Davidson, a 90-to-73 victor over Penn in the opener Monday, was the Tigers' foe in the championship round. The North Carolina quintet, ranked well up in the first ten in the country, was heavily favored over Princeton, although the Orange and Black had trimmed it, 79-70, a year ago.

BANTAM HOCKEY SET

At Baker Rink. The public is invited to witness a Bantam All-Star hockey contest Saturday between Princeton and Warwick, R.I. The faceoff will be at 3:30 in Baker Rink.

Comprising Princeton's starting lineup are Whit Raymond, Kit Raymond and Sandy Wandell, forwards, and Evan Donaldson and Hugh Samson, defense. It's a tossup among Aubrey Huston, Mathew Young and Peter Samson as to who will start in the net. Only boys 14 and under compete in Bantam hockey.

This will be the fifth opponent representing a different state that the Princeton team, coached by John Bernard, has faced. Previous games have been played against teams from Westport, Conn., West Point and Lake Placid, N. Y., Exeter, N.H. and Belmont, Mass. Fred Wandell is manager of the team.

DEER KILL UP IN 1963

Bul Down in Princeton Area. More than 7,800 deer were killed by New Jersey hunters during the six-day firearm season, according to figures released by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. This is some 600 more than were shot in 1962.

The buck kill was substantially higher in southern New Jersey, while the northern counties reported a drop in the deer harvest. Counties surrounding the Princeton area reflect this drop.

In Mercer, the total kill was 203, down 10; in Middlesex the kill was 60, down 8; Hunterdon, 844, down 41; and Somerset, 301, down 90. Of the 7,828 deer shot this year, 6,322 were bucks and 1,506 were does.

ON NEW YEAR'S EVE . . .

SO LONG AGO

The snow lay deep in Old Princeton. The British Army showed scarlet in the wintry twilight. Doubtless, a warm fire at the hearth flickered on this beamed ceiling and then, as now, all was cozy and secure in this little stone house. Unbelievably, its mellowed charm can now be yours. Three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, new heating system.

In Order To Serve You Better

Last year, we offered our customers a free service that provided a yearly total on how much they spent on drug purchases of a tax-deductible nature.

This year, 1964, we are providing you — our customers — with an improved, more detailed service for these deductible drugs. Our new, free, tax record service is TIP—Tax Information Plan.

Here is how TIP works. Each time you make a purchase at The Thorne Pharmacy any part of that purchase which is deductible under Federal law is noted in a separate column on your receipt.

Receipts will be itemized on your periodic TIP statement. You will see a gray column listing all your tax deductible purchases, and a running total of deductibility to date in the lower right hand corner. Enclosed with your TIP statement will be the individual receipts. It is vital that you keep these receipts with your other tax records. They are your legal proof that the purchases were made.

In January, 1965, you will receive a TIP final statement showing every deductible purchase you made during 1964.

Not only does TIP help at income tax time, but it is equally important should you ever have a claim under a medical insurance program.

Won't you let us serve you better by taking advantage of our Tax Information Plan?

WE NOMINATE

the hundreds upon hundreds of Princetonians who over the Holiday Season opened their hearts to others in contributing more than $3,280 to the Seventeenth Annual Town Topics Christmas Appeal. As we enter upon the New Year, in a world shaken by fears and grave doubts, it is heart-warming to know that Princetonians in the space of 17 years have now given $47,280 so that thoughtful and specialized assistance can be extended to youngsters thirsting for happiness and a sense of security. For their understanding generosity; for thinking twice of our community's human needs; for refusing to permit bewildered boys and girls to remain in the maze of despair where tomorrow is all too often just another cold, gray morning; these wonderful neighbors of ours are our nominees for Princeton's
